ABOUT ME

As a first-year Computer Science student, I'm focused on improving my skills in C#, front-end development, and database management. My coursework has given me a strong foundation, and I'm eager to apply my knowledge to real-world projects. I'm also active in Graphic Design societies, enhancing my understanding of design principles. With a GGPA of 3.4, I'm dedicated to academic success and eager to seize opportunities that match my skill set. I have finished 3+ projects, showing that I can get real things done quickly.
